

Abby E. Murray (MFA & Ph.D.) teaches argumentation in military and academic writing for graduate students on fellowship from the U.S. Army War College. She also edits Collateral, a literary journal publishing work concerned with the impact of violent conflict and military service beyond the combat zone, and offers free creative writing workshops for soldiers, veterans, military families and refugees in Pierce County, Washington. Recent publications can be found in Rattle, Prairie Schooner, New Ohio Review, Wrath-Bearing Tree and others. Her third poetry chapbook, How to Be Married after Iraq, was released in 2018.