IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR ACCESS STUDENTS

The Access Program allows Washington residents who are 60 years of age and older to audit a maximum of two classes per quarter on a space-available basis.

- Access students attend class as auditors and do not participate in class discussions, take tests or submit papers. Access students are not eligible to enroll in 500-level or above courses, extension or correspondence courses, or independent study courses.
- Some courses require entry codes as indicated in the Time Schedule. You must obtain any entry codes from the program offering the course before you can register.
- Access students must register in person in the Office of Enrollment Services (MAT 253). Registration for Access students begins the third day of the quarter and ends at 5 p.m. on the fifth day of the quarter. Summer quarter registration for all terms must be completed by the fifth day of A term.
- A nonrefundable $5 registration fee is charged to all Access students along with a prorated portion of the student technology fee (approximately $4 per credit). Payment is due by the third Friday of the quarter.
- You can obtain a student ID card when your register. This card allows you to use the library and obtain a UW e-mail account.
