1. Advisors

Advisors received good feedback from students in regards to the flexibility of hybrid online courses. A couple of new cohort students were concerned about finding internships. David suggested that the internships situation is something we need to think about since we're still in the middle of a pandemic. And all of the career fairs are virtual right now. Andrew already gotten a few students who stopped by his office to talk about that, specifically on resume review. Andrew considers internships to be actual jobs where the student get paid for. Kira: advisors planning a Zoom transfer open house during the week of November 15th, advertising will be through social media.

2. Seminar Leaders

CJ is offering help for students who are struggling in the seminar class. He specifically reached out to one student who is probably failing the seminar class. Kira suggested that the seminar leaders need to inform advisor of any student struggling, so advisor can reach out to them.
