Congratulations, Class of 2023!

You did it. Through hard work and what at times might seem to have been overwhelming odds, you have completed a stage in your journey through higher education.

My congratulations also extend to all those who inspired and helped you on the way – and I am sure there have been many. If there's one thing I've learned, it's that inspiration can come from unexpected places and at unexpected moments.

The accomplishment you and we are celebrating today is all the more precious because it comes in the wake of uncertain times. In the midst of COVID-19, racial violence, economic instability and so many other challenges, your ability to adapt and achieve your goals is what gives me confidence you will be a force for change in the world.

What you have done, and what you will do, is about much more than just securing a credential to further your career, although that in itself is praiseworthy. Despite what you may be hearing from pundits and politicians, a college degree remains a key way to overcome structural inequities in our society – a way to make a better life for yourself, your family and your community, a change of trajectory that will resonate for generations to come.

As you join the ranks of UW alumni, I ask you to remember that your work as a Husky continues. As graduates of UW Tacoma, you have a responsibility to pay it forward. I urge you to put back into your community that which it provided you.

I offer to each and every one of you my most enthusiastic and profound congratulations.

Awards & Recognition

Each year at Commencement we recognize outstanding faculty and students. These awards are symbolic of the many hundreds of public servants and thousands of students at UW Tacoma working together to foster a thriving and equitable society.

DISTINGUISHED RESEARCH AWARD

This award recognizes a faculty member with a record of notable scholarship or creative activity, who has generated new knowledge or creativity that impacts their intellectual discipline, and has contributed to the intellectual climate of the UW Tacoma campus and its communities.

Dr. Luna Zhang is an Assistant Professor with the Milgard School of Business. Her research focuses on consumer behavior, platform economy, information systems, and operations management and the interface of these fields.

Zhang started at UW Tacoma in 2018. During that time, she has published six peer-reviewed articles, all in prestigious journals. Her paper, “Fending off Critics of Platform Power: Doing Well by Doing Good?” was awarded best paper at the 2021 Conference on Information Systems & Technology (CIST). Zhang has also given 15 invited talks in national and international venues over the past four years. Her expertise regarding supply chain disruption and mobile commerce is sought by both scholarly and media outlets. Zhang also lends her expertise to students as the faculty advisor for the Analytics Innovations student club. In May of this year, the OL Reign soccer team recognized Zhang as part of its Legends Campaign which “celebrates extraordinary female leaders in the Pacific Northwest.”

Zhang grew up in Chengdu, in the southwest part of China. She moved to the United States to pursue a master’s degree in economics from Lehigh University in Pennsylvania. Zhang also completed a Ph.D. in business and economics at Lehigh. She served as an adjunct professor at Lehigh for two years prior to coming to UW Tacoma.

DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARD

The award recognizes a faculty member who demonstrates a mastery of their subject matter, the ability to engage diverse students both within and outside of the classroom, and who strives for innovation in course design.

Dr. Ellen Bayer is an Associate Professor with the Division of Culture, Arts and Communication in the School of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences. Her teaching philosophy reflects her passion for the natural world and her interest in helping others experience the world around them.

Bayer implements experiential learning strategies that take students outside the traditional classroom, helping to strengthen students’ reflections on their natural environments. These experiential activities also allow students to draw connections between classroom learning and their own lived experiences.

In her teaching, Bayer centers inclusivity using diverse instructional practices, reading materials, and assessment methods. She inquires about her students’ needs beyond the classroom and connects them with relevant supports across campus. Bayer also mentors and collaborates with her faculty colleagues.

Bayer believes helping students develop the skills and confidence to explore the natural world is a foundational part of her job. In her experience as an educator, she has seen how transformative this can be in terms of fostering engagement with issues of sustainability and the global environmental crisis.

A literature professor, Bayer has taught a range of classes during her time at UW Tacoma. These courses probe different topics from American identity to the intersection of space, place and environment.

DISTINGUISHED COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AWARDS

The Distinguished Community Engagement Award recognizes the important and innovative community-based work being done by faculty at UW Tacoma.

Dr. Alison Cardinal is an Assistant Professor with the Division of Culture, Arts and Communication in the School of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences. Cardinal's research focuses on language justice through community-engaged partnerships. Her work seeks to develop ways of decentering English as the default way of speaking and communicating in institutions and moving towards equity for multilingual communities. A foundational principle of language justice is that all people should be able to fully and equitably participate in community and should be able to access services in their preferred language.

Cardinal is currently the Director of Designing Language Access, a cross-institutional and community-based research and consulting group. Cardinal is working with a number of community partners including the Asia Pacific Cultural Center, City of Tacoma, King County Office of Equity and Social Service, Providence Health Services and the Tacoma-Pierce County Health Department.

Together, Cardinal and the coalition of community partners engaged in a participatory, user-centered design process to develop and refine a language justice framework. The group also worked to create tools and processes for better language access in the South Puget Sound.

The next phase of the project focuses on completing a Language Access Handbook. The purpose of the handbook is to provide guidelines and best practices for organizations and civil servants who want to work towards language justice.

Dr. Emma Rose is an Associate Professor with the Division of Culture, Arts and Communication in the School of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences. Her research focuses on digital inclusion, specifically how existing methodologies and design approaches can be expanded to accommodate the growing diversity of people using technology.

Rose has worked with a number of community partners on different projects. She used a human-centered, participatory design approach for Project EMAR. The goal of the project was to develop an engaging social robot to capture real-time stress and mood data from teens to better assess student health. The process involved working with students in Chief Leschi Schools as well as Tacoma Public Schools.

As part of Designing Language Access, a cross-institutional and community-based research and consulting group, Rose worked with Dr. Alison Cardinal and other community experts to incorporate human-centered design to help organizations work towards language justice. Rose facilitated workshops and helped create design materials to support the goals of the group.

Rose also collaborated with the Pierce County Auditor's Office as part of a course on usability testing and research. Students in the course investigated the usability of online voting information provided by the auditor's office and the state website VoteWA.gov and whether or not it met people's needs.

CHANCELLOR'S MEDALS

The Chancellor's Medal recognizes an individual who has been a consistent source of inspiration for faculty and fellow students alike, and who has overcome significant obstacles in order to complete a degree.

Salese Clark graduates from UW Tacoma with a bachelor's degree in business administration with a concentration in marketing. Clark, a first-generation college student, grew up in University Place and attended Curtis High School.

While at UW Tacoma, Clark spent more than 400 hours volunteering both on and off campus. She was active in the Black Student Union and received a Dream Award from the BSU at the 2023 Martin Luther King Jr. Unity Breakfast. Clark was also heavily involved with the Milgard Women's Initiative Lead Your Way program.

Clark has played cello for 13 years. She co-founded a music club to help students express themselves through music. Clark has played cello for different organizations including the Seattle Symphony.

Clark plans to work in business with the goal of becoming an executive for a business or organization.

Exitia Lealofi graduates from UW Tacoma with a bachelor's degree in Ethnic, Gender, and Labor Studies and a minor in Global Engagement. Lealofi is also part of the Global Honors program.

A first-generation college student, Lealofi grew up on American Samoa. She moved to Washington at the age of 13. Lealofi said those first few months after the move were difficult, but she found her footing with the help of her family.

During her time at UW Tacoma, Lealofi helped students connect to campus as a Pack Advisor. She also served as the Director of University Affairs for ASUWT and is also active in UW Tacoma's Pacific Islander Student Alliance (PISA). When not on campus, she mentors Pacific Islander students at Mt. Tahoma High School. Lealofi plans to continue her education and wants to pursue a master's degree.

PRESIDENT'S MEDAL

The President's Medal recipient is selected from graduating seniors with the most distinguished academic record. This year's medalist earned a 3.99 GPA.

Samantha June Smith graduates from UW Tacoma with bachelor's degrees in Sustainable Urban Development and Law and Policy.

Smith grew up in Kent and is the youngest of six siblings. After high school she moved to Utah to attend college. Smith decided to take a break from school to pursue an opportunity in Chile.

Smith ultimately decided to delay returning to college. She worked as an English teacher in Chile (she's fluent in Spanish). Smith returned from Chile and took a position as a legal assistant with a local law firm that specializes in immigration.

The then-33-year-old returned to school in 2020. She enrolled at Green River College where she completed her associate's degree before transferring to UW Tacoma. When not on campus, Smith put her interest in urban development to use as a volunteer with the Kent Downtown Partnership. The Partnership is a volunteer driven organization centered around getting residents, visitors, businesses and investors to engage with Downtown Kent.

The mother of two also completed a GIS certificate at UW Tacoma. In the future Smith hopes to work as a policy analyst for the State of Washington on issues related to sustainable urban development.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic dress worn by scholars originated in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars usually were clerics as well, and they adopted dress similar to that of their monastic orders. Buildings were cold and drafty, so caps and warm, floor-length capes with hoods were necessities. As control of education passed from the churches, the dress was modified in various ways, and there was great diversity in the color and style of cap, gown and hood worn at different institutions. In 1895, a standardized code of academic dress was established that is followed by most colleges and universities in the United States.

At the University of Washington, the bachelor's and master's gowns are black. The doctoral gowns are purple with purple and gold hoods and are distinguished by three velvet chevrons on each sleeve. The matching mortarboard or tam has a long tassel, and is worn over the left side of the cap. The colors of tassels or hoods are distinctive of the candidate's academic program (in most cases). Honor cords identify students who are graduating with academic honors and are worn loosely around the neck and hang down in the front.

ABOUT THE MACE

University of Washington ceremonial occasions begin with the entrance of the University Mace, carried by the faculty marshal, Menaka Abraham, Teaching Professor, School of Engineering & Technology. A mace was originally a weapon used by mounted knights for protection. It since has become a symbol of authority indicating that the proceedings to follow have official sanction. The current mace was presented to the University by the Alumni Association in 1961.

Academic Honors

Official honors are awarded to undergraduates once final credit and grade point requirements are met and posted to transcripts.

BACCALAUREATE HONORS

Baccalaureate honors are awarded upon graduation to undergraduates earning their first bachelor's degree with a minimum of 90 UW credits. Summa Cum Laude recognizes the top 0.5% of the program, Magna Cum Laude is the next 3% and Cum Laude is the next 6.5%. Graduates who have earned baccalaureate honors wear a gold honor cord.
