Photography
Out of consideration for other members of the audience, it is requested that those who wish to take photographs of portions of the ceremony remain in their seats and refrain from interfering with the view of others. Guests are not permitted on the main floor.

UW Tacoma has partnered with Pro Pics to take professional portraits of all graduates during the ceremony, as well as family photos on the Tacoma Dome Plaza after the ceremony has concluded.

Photos will be available for purchase after the ceremony. There is no cost to have your photo taken and no obligation to purchase. If you would like to receive your photo proofs, please go to www.UWTacomaPhotos.com to submit your information. If you have any questions regarding photos, please contact Pro Pics at info@propicsusa.com.

Cell phones
Please set your cell phone to “silent” or “vibrate” mode.

After the ceremony
Please meet your graduate outside at the Tacoma Dome plaza.

Congratulations, Class of 2024!

You did it. Through your own hard work and the love and support of those around you, you have reached an important milestone.

My congratulations also extend to all those who inspired and helped you on the way — and I know there have been many. If your journey was anything like mine, inspiration came to you in unexpected places and at unexpected times. A measure of your success is your openness to that inspiration.

The accomplishments you are celebrating today bring me hope for the future in uncertain times. We are here in person celebrating Commencement — perhaps your first chance to walk across a stage in front of your family and friends in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic. We have been and continue to be living in a time of uncertainty and change, which I know weighs heavy on many of you.

But I have seen first-hand your ability to adapt and achieve your goals. That is what gives me confidence you will be a force for change in the world.

What you have done and will do is about much more than securing a credential to further your career, although that in itself is praiseworthy. A college degree remains a key way to overcome structural inequities in our society. A degree can provide a way to make a better life for yourself, your family and your community. The accomplishment you celebrate today can even be a change of trajectory that will resonate for generations to come.

As you join the ranks of UW alumni, remember that your work as a Husky continues. As graduates of UW Tacoma, I hope you feel a responsibility to pay it forward. I urge you to go back to your community and give back generously. We need you!

I offer to each and every one of you my most enthusiastic and profound congratulations.

Sheila Edwards Lange, PhD
Chancellor
Awards & Recognition

Each year at Commencement we recognize outstanding faculty and students. These awards are symbolic of the many hundreds of public servants and thousands of students at UW Tacoma working together to foster a thriving and equitable society.

DISTINGUISHED RESEARCH AWARD

This award recognizes a faculty member with a record of notable scholarship or creative activity, who has generated new knowledge or creativity that impacts their intellectual discipline, and has contributed to the intellectual climate of the UW Tacoma campus and its communities.

Dr. Angela Kitali is an assistant professor in the School of Engineering & Technology. Her research focuses on using real-time data and applying data-driven, statistical, and machine learning approaches to improve highway safety and traffic operations.

Her research reflects a profound understanding of the societal significance of transportation engineering. Kitali’s collective work thus far includes an impressive 23 journal publications, 15 peer-reviewed conference proceedings, and four abstract-reviewed presentations. She has actively sought to diversify her research portfolio, engaging in a wide range of activities including research, grant writing, and collaborative endeavors.

Last year, she led one of the first Course-based Undergraduate Research (CURE) projects at UW Tacoma, part of a “Research for All” effort to provide students with research experience at the undergraduate level. Her class worked on a project to understand micromobility—the use of bicycles, scooters and skateboards for getting around—in Tacoma.

Kitali’s proactive engagement with government agencies and community groups extends far beyond the Tacoma area, reflecting her commitment to effecting positive change on a broader scale. She earned her PhD in civil engineering from Florida International University in 2020 and joined the faculty at UW Tacoma in 2021.

DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARD

The award recognizes a faculty member who demonstrates a mastery of their subject matter, the ability to engage diverse students both within and outside of the classroom, and who strives for innovation in course design.

Dr. Emma Rose is an associate professor in the School of Interdisciplinary Arts & Sciences. She is a technical communication scholar whose research and teaching are motivated by a commitment to social justice and designing for inclusion.

Rose’s scholarly focus on human-centered design and inclusivity informs her student-centered approach to teaching. She co-creates rubrics with students and structures her assignments to encourage students to bring their interests, literacies, and expertise into her classes.

In addition to designing courses, assignments, and activities that foster deep reflection and critical inquiry, Rose is a strong advocate for the transformative learning experience of undergraduate research. She has worked with students on over 25 projects including NSF-funded grants and community-engaged projects. Rose also serves as a mentor and peer observer for faculty colleagues.

Rose was also honored this year for her work as part of the Digital Learning User Experience (DLUX) team that brought faculty, staff and students together to develop common criteria and quality instruction techniques across in-person and hybrid coursework.

She earned her PhD in human-centered design and engineering from the University of Washington in Seattle and joined the UW Tacoma faculty in 2013. She teaches courses in user experience (UX), UX research, user-centered design, and technical writing.
The Distinguished Community Engagement Award recognizes the important and innovative community-based work being done by faculty at UW Tacoma.

Dr. Chieh (Sunny) Cheng is an associate professor in the School of Nursing & Healthcare Leadership. Her clinical background as a RN in psychiatric and mental health nursing informs her decades of research in developing and testing evidence-based approaches for improving mental and behavioral health for school youth, individuals with early-stage psychosis, and underserved populations impacted by mental health conditions.

Students’ mental health challenges have been exacerbated by the pandemic, yet Washington ranks 43rd in the nation for equitable access to mental health care for youth. Cheng has partnered with MultiCare and Tacoma Public Schools on implementation and evaluation of Teen Mental Health First Aid (tMHFA), an evidence-based program that teaches teens how to identify, understand and respond to signs of mental health and substance use challenges in their friends and peers.

Her collaborative approach ensures that the programs are not only informed by academic insights but also deeply rooted in the experiences and needs of the community. Partners noted that she combines "deep research knowledge with innovative thinking to push the field of behavioral health forward. And she does all of this with kindness, compassion and humility."

Cheng joined the faculty at UW Tacoma in 2017 after earning her PhD in nursing from University of Washington in Seattle.

Dr. Eric Madfis is a professor in the School of Social Work & Criminal Justice. His research focuses on the causes and prevention of school violence, hate crime, and mass murder. He also serves as director of the Violence Prevention and Transformation Research Collaborative (VPTRC).

As part of the VPTRC, he conducts groundbreaking research on the causes and prevention of violence and shares this knowledge with scholars, practitioners, policy makers, and the public in order to reduce violence in our society. In particular, his collaborative research partnership with the Salem-Keizer School District to evaluate the threat assessment model used throughout Washington and Oregon is leading to best practices that address concerns around both safety and equity.

During this academic year, Madfis also organized and hosted two conferences on preventing school violence that brought together students, faculty, teachers, administrators and safety officials from across the Northwest to learn and collaborate. Two more trainings are already planned for next year.

His community partners praise his approach to research and his work bring people across disciplines together on this important topic.

Madfis joined the faculty at UW Tacoma in 2012, shortly after earning his PhD in sociology from Northeastern University.
CHANCELLOR’S MEDAL

The Chancellor’s Medal recognizes an individual who has been a consistent source of inspiration for faculty and fellow students alike, and who has overcome significant obstacles in order to complete a degree.

Christian Gombio graduates from UW Tacoma with a bachelor’s degree in biomedical sciences. A first-generation Filipino-American from Guam, Gombio transferred to UW Tacoma from Green River College. His undergraduate experience has been all about representation and paying kindness forward. Having co-instructed underrepresented youth through UW Tacoma’s Math Science Leadership program, he always strives to instill confidence into and inspire those pursuing their dreams.

During his years at UW Tacoma he has balanced school, work, and volunteering. Serving as a resident assistant in student housing, Gombio encouraged fellow residents to maximize their Husky experiences and worked to ensure a healthy and inclusive living environment. He modeled this with his own campus involvement, working as a student lab assistant and actively participating in multiple student organizations, including the Pacific islander Student Alliance, Black Student Union, Pre-Med Club and UW Tacoma Alumni Council.

He has been an inspiration for fellow students and faculty alike, always willing to mentor and uplift others. After the unexpected death of a faculty member last summer quarter, the students from that faculty member’s class were added to the class Gombio was assisting with. Gombio stepped up to help with the transition. He tutored the students on experimental design to help get their research going in the short amount of allotted time, and was a resource to these students throughout the quarter. His compassion, knowledge, and commitment to service shone through in very challenging circumstances.

Gombio has been accepted to the top-rated veterinary school at Washington State University where he plans to earn his doctor of veterinary medicine.

PRESIDENT’S MEDAL

The President’s Medal recipient is selected from graduating seniors with the most distinguished academic record. This year’s medalist earned a 3.99 GPA.

Danalyn Lia Fernandez graduates from UW Tacoma with a bachelor’s degree in psychology with a minor in education and community engagement. She is a first-generation student (and second-generation Filipina-American) from Federal Way who transferred to UW Tacoma from Green River College where she earned her associate degree with highest honors. At UW Tacoma, she has continued to excel academically, demonstrating a remarkable level of engagement, intellect, and dedication to her studies.

In addition to her studies, she has been involved as a research assistant in two faculty research projects: one evaluating a program that recruits low-income students to STEM majors and another on a systematic review of Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander (AANHPI) ethnic and racial identity measures.

What sets Fernandez apart is an unwavering dedication to addressing inequities faced by underserved and underrepresented communities. Her involvement in various research projects and community service initiatives exemplifies her commitment to making a tangible difference in the lives of others. From her impactful work as a Writing Consultant in the Teaching and Learning Center, her internship at the Asia Pacific Cultural Center, and volunteer work at Asian Counseling & Referral Service, Fernandez has consistently sought opportunities to advocate for marginalized voices and promote social change.

Fernandez plans to pursue graduate studies to become a counseling psychologist who amplifies the strengths of first-generation and AANHPI youth, paving the way for future generations to receive culturally-accessible mental health care and embrace their identities.
ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic dress worn by scholars originated in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars usually were clerics as well, and they adopted dress similar to that of their monastic orders. Buildings were cold and drafty, so caps and warm, floor-length capes with hoods were necessities. As control of education passed from the churches, the dress was modified in various ways, and there was great diversity in the color and style of cap, gown and hood worn at different institutions. In 1895, a standardized code of academic dress was established that is followed by most colleges and universities in the United States.

At the University of Washington, the bachelor’s and master’s gowns are black. The doctoral gowns are purple with purple and gold hoods and are distinguished by three velvet chevrons on each sleeve. The matching mortarboard or tam has a long tassel, and is worn over the left side of the cap. The colors of tassels or hoods are distinctive of the candidate’s academic program (in most cases). Honor cords identify students who are graduating with academic honors and are worn loosely around the neck and hang down in the front.

ABOUT THE MACE

University of Washington ceremonial occasions begin with the entrance of the University Mace, carried by the faculty marshal, Huatong Sun, Professor, School of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences. A mace was originally a weapon used by mounted knights for protection. It since has become a symbol of authority indicating that the proceedings to follow have official sanction. The current mace was presented to the University by the Alumni Association in 1961.
