

BACHELOR OF ARTS, CRIMINAL JUSTICE

W SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK & CRIMINAL JUSTICE
UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON | TACOMA

OUR PROGRAMS

Offered in both on-campus and online formats, the Criminal Justice major provides a multidisciplinary understanding of crime and justice within the broader social processes of our society. The Criminal Justice On-campus major courses are offered in a flexible format, with a mix of hybrid and in-person options, while the Criminal Justice Online program follows a sequenced, cohort-based curriculum designed to support working professionals. The program examines all major aspects of the justice system through an ecological systems approach rather than a narrow specialization, combining theoretical foundations with an understanding of the scientific method as it applies to crime and justice issues.

UW Tacoma's innovative Criminal Justice major emphasizes community partnerships, systems thinking, and skill development. Students are sensitized to the human impact of crime, including its differential impact across social groups and locations, and gain exposure to a wide range of rehabilitative and restorative approaches to crime and justice.
