SIAS seniors may apply to graduate "with honors in SIAS." To begin the process, they should talk to an IAS academic advisor or faculty advisor.

The SIAS honors option is different from, but can be pursued alongside, other UW Tacoma honors distinctions e.g., University honors and various honorary societies.

To qualify to graduate with "honors in SIAS" a student must:

1. Possess a 3.7 UW cumulative GPA at time of application and at graduation.
2. Submit a formal application to the SIAS office.
3. Meet all program and major graduation requirements.
4. Write a graded senior honors thesis—TIAS 494—Senior Thesis.
(Consisting typically of 10 credits over two quarters: research the first quarter, writing the second)

The honors thesis requirement is to be arranged between the student and any full-time SIAS faculty member.

Please return this completed and signed form to front desk in the SIAS office, WCG 424.
