Pierce County maintains an online marketplace for use by county employees called WANTADS, and this year it is getting an upgrade. The new release is being built from the ground up and most of the application has been developed by interns! My internship involves developing the final touches for WANTADS, from improving UI design and fixing bugs to adding new features requested by the customer.